LEADERSHIP WORKSHOP

Macdonald College Students Council and Activity leaders got their year off to a good start as they attended the Leadership Workshop sponsored by the Students' Council at the McGill Gault Donation at Mont St. Hilaire. The week-end before college registration 23 campus leaders and 4 staff advisors gathered for two days of leadership instruction and discussion of major college problems.

Staff advisors for the Workshop were: Dr. and Mrs. Rowles of the Physics Department, Mr. Peter Hamilton of the Animal Science Department, and Mrs. Vauthier, Secretary-Treasurer of the Students' Council.

At the beginning of the Workshop, four discussion groups were formed each of which chose a topic of concern to be discussed during the Workshop - Student Awards, the Image of Macdonald College, Council Monetary Problems and Budgeting, and Freshmen - these were the major topics under discussion.

Many constructive points were brought to the foreground as the delegates present were representing several years of study and both faculties. A Committee was formed to draw up plans for a Freshmen Committee which would outline the responsibilities of first year students.

Although these were the major topics of discussion, other program features included a film and discussion on Parliamentary Procedure and Program Planning, Assignments and Evaluation of these group planned programs. Both sessions contained valuable information for all campus leaders. A feature of interest was Impromptu Public Speaking as each delegate was asked to speak on a controversial college topic with a minutes' notice. The results indicated an extremely competent group of speakers and the topics often brought about lively discussions.

Each member attending the Workshop considered it a very worthwhile experience for it was not only informative but also enjoyable as students got to know and understand each other, their problems and their views. The atmosphere was informal and relaxing in the spacious facilities and beautiful surroundings so that one could not help but return to the home scene at Macdonald College with new en-

ORIENTATION

Mac is once again in full swing as last week over 700 freshmen and freshettes joined the ranks of Clan Macdonald. The first roster of new students landed September 8th as the 2S and 1G classes registered. The remaining hordes invaded the campus on Monday and Wednesday of last week.

Each year the Orientation Program is organized by a staff committee and a student committee with the purpose of getting the new student acquainted with the College, its flora and fauna, and the new way of life.

Through These Gates
This year's Orientation got off to a start Monday night as the Frosh got their first glimpse of what the College has to offer. They were welcomed by Dr. Dion and Professor Neilson and were treated to the film "Through These Gates".

Sight Seeing

Tuesday morning the dampness did not stop the Campus Tour as Dr. Callen strolled about the premises with some 150 frosh trailing along, taking in the sights and hearing the many points of interest described. In the afternoon they were taken on bus and tractor-trailer tours of the College Farm and Morgan Arboretum.

The weiner roast, scheduled for that night at the lakeshore by the tennis courts was "rained out", but last-minute emergency measures resulted in a very successful Hootenanny and weiner "roast" in Stewart Foyer under the sponsorship of A.U.S. and Home Economics Society.

McGill Tour

Bright and early Wednesday morning the frosh loaded buses for a tour of Dear Old McGill. Several hours later these same students had the chance to rest their aching feet as they settled down to an afternoon of tests and lectures.

Disappointment

Wednesday evening will go down in the books as a great disappointment, as only a few freshmen showed up at a special meeting where they were to meet their Student's Council and learn what is expect-

HOME ECONOMICS CONFERENCE PLAN

On Tuesday, Sept. 21, a "Big and Little Sister Dinner" was held in the New Dining Hall by the H.E.S. About one hundred and eighty Home Economics students attended and became acquainted.

After the meal, Grace Beach called a meeting to order, and projects for the 1965-66 season were discussed. It was moved that a Home Economics Conference be held at Macdonald College from November 5 to November 7, 1965, and that delegates be invited from colleges in Eastern Canada and the United States area. This will be the first Conference of its kind to be sponsored by a Canadian college, and, judging from the enthusiastic response of those girls at the meeting, should prove to be very successful. It is hoped that this Conference will be the beginning of a succession of similar annual conventions at other Canadian colleges. The planning of the programme has been left to the Executive of the H.E.S., and we would appreciate any suggestions which you may have.

Many ideas concerning guest speakers for the coming year were also put forth, and these will be used as a basis for planning the forthcoming meetings of the H.E.S.

This year all students of the School of Household Science are members of the H.E.S., which replaces the Home Economics Club. With their support and interest, the Society can look forward to a successful year, and to making the presence of the Home Economics felt on our Campus.

The next meeting of the H.E.S. will be held on Tuesday, October 19. All Home Ecs are asked to watch for further news of this meeting, and to make a point of reserving the evening for it.

Ilse Lichtenberger,
Publicity Director.

A NEW ERA AT MACDONALD

In the chaos of Registration, that National Employment Service form seemed like just one more of the innumerable papers we had to fill out and sign for the enlightenment of the powers that be. What most of us failed to realize was that this piece of paper was ushering in a new era for the students of this College. The Student Placement Office has been set up on the campus to help students who are looking for a good job and need the help of a qualified person with the facts and the contacts at his fingertips.

AIIS CONFERENCE

The fourth annual International Agricultural Students' Conference was held at the University of Guelph from Sept. 6-11 inclusive. There were delegates from the University of Washington, Illinois, Nebraska, British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Guelph, Cornell University, and Macdonald College. The delegates representing the Macdonald College Agricultural Undergraduate Society were Bob Hamilton, Hugh Fallis, John Boomgardt, and Howard Baker.

The thirty-four delegates were welcomed to the University by Dr. J.D. MacLachlan, President of the University of Guelph. Dean N.R. Richards of the Ontario Agricultural College spoke on the topic "The University and Industry."

The theme of the conference was "Agriculture and Industry." The students were addressed by various agricultural leaders on this theme. They spoke on such topics as "Agriculture in Our Industrial World", "Chemicals Linking Agriculture and Industry", and "Progressing Marketing Farm Products."

The delegates were taken on a bus trip to Niagara Falls and area. The tour took the students to the Horticultural Experiment Station at Vineyard Station, Bright Wines Limited and various other points of interest at Niagara Falls itself.

The conference came to a close with a preliminary session for the next conference.

Our man for the job is Peter Henderson, who makes his headquarters over in the Cluster Cottages where no-one would think of looking. Some students have managed to find their way there, using the Infirmary as a landmark, to leave their cards in and, if they were lucky, to sit down and talk for a few minutes. Those who have talked to him know that Mr. Henderson can really make his voice heard, especially on the subject of students who hand in information sheets with nothing on them and expect that he will "get them a job". Even Superman might have some difficulty informing potential employers about an applicant if all he had to go on was a blank sheet of paper!

In many of the various professions we are studying here, the demand for graduates is great enough that a young man can walk from the college classroom into an interview and walk out with a job. But this does not guarantee that the arrangements made will be of full benefit to either the graduate or the employer. This type of last-minute job-catching is largely responsible for companies recording such figures as six out of ten for their turnover of new graduates. Mr. Henderson puts it in a nutshell - twenty years of preparation and half an hour of decision.

With this in mind, Dr. Dion is trying in this way to remedy the situation. Mr. Henderson and his secretary will give us all the help they can, and it is up to us to make it easy for them.

MACDONALD FUN NIGHT 1965

On September 17 at 7:30 p.m., in the Assembly Hall, the 1965-66 Macdonald Clan was danced into a new year of studies and entertainment. A display of "the ska" got the evening rolling.

Then, amidst clapping, laughter, and cheering, the show went on. First year education did an exact, but more humorous, replica of registration day. First year Home Economics, knowing ever so much about food, witnessed the death of a peanut fiend. People from all walks of life gathered this year at "Mac" to form the first year "Aggies". 1st year Aggies seem to be either singers or swingers and claim to be Mighty Men???

Just to prove that college life isn't all play, 1st year physical education demonstrated life in the gymnasium. Tough work it appears.

Of all the different talents displayed, it seems that music and song will excel.

The trophy was presented to the first year education students, whose skit caused so much laughter that the audience was almost in the same state as their "mamma's boy."

Fun Night '65 was a success and we can only hope that 1965-66 will be just as successful for the Macdonald Clan.

EDITORIAL

To the new faces: "Failt-Ye", and to the old "Its good to see you back in fold." Here's hoping that you will both have a successful and fun filled year, and will stick around for more.

One of the first matters to be settled by Geoff Chislett's Council last year was the ratification of the Failt-Ye Times Constitution, giving the paper complete freedom. By doing this, they showed a trust and faith in the paper which will greatly help in the production of the best Failt-Ye ever. For this we must thank you. We hope to see many equally progressive steps taken this year, and are sure they will be.

It is our profound desire to make this run of the Failt-Ye the best ever and will do everything in our power to effect this. However, this objective will only be attained if we receive the full cooperation of the student body. This co-operation consists of everything from letter writing, to the submitting of articles, cartoons, etc. (to say nothing of suggesting improvements - we will be glad to hear criticism and fresh ideas). Together we will make this year's volume truly, "The Voice of Macdonald College."

DO ANYTHING LAST SUMMER?

If it was interesting, unusual, exciting, unexpected, or heartwarming, let's hear it! Write it down and mail it to "The Editor, Failt-Ye Times, Macdonald College" (No postage necessary from the college post-office).

GOT A BEEF?

Write it down! We'd like to hear it - it may appear in the feature "Beefs of the Week." Mail to Editor, Failt-Ye Times, Macdonald College.

POETIC?

This is the stepping stone to everlasting fame in the literary world!!!

PLEASE NOTE

Contributions of all kinds should be either mailed to the Editor, Failt-Ye Times, Macdonald College, Que. or else handed to him personally.

-Letters to the Editor should be brief and typed on one side only.

-The name and address of the contributor should always be submitted. Anonymity will be retained on request.

-All material contributed will be returned to the contributor within 10 days of publication.

-The Failt-Ye Times reserves the right to use material submitted, in whole or part, or not at all.

IMPORTANT

DEADLINE FOR ALL CONTRIBUTIONS AND INSERTIONS IS TUESDAY NOON OF THE WEEK OF DESIRED PUBLICATIONS

-Advertisements, personal or organizational will not be returned. The maximum size of advertisements and notices will be at the discretion of the staff.

DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE

How many times have you come in after a session in traffic and beefed about the antics of The Other Driver. He's the nut who stole some of the road from you, or who raced through the green signal to cut you off, or who made a right-hand turn from the left-hand lane. He's the oddball who didn't signal when he turned or who was going a good 15 miles an hour beyond the speed limit.

Did you ever stop to realize that, to all the motorists around you, YOU are The Other Driver?

Watch it.

What's On This Week

AUS MEETING

The Aggies' first get-together will be a dinner meeting in the New Dining Hall at 6 p.m. this coming Tuesday, the 28th. To get the year off to a good start, the speaker will be Mr. John Moles, Director of Farm Sales for Ontario Hydro. The boys who have heard him speak tell us that anyone would be foolish to miss his talk.

Several of the Faculty members have been invited to share our meal, sitting at the different tables with the students. In this way, Society members will have the chance to meet old and new friends on the staff, at perhaps a higher level than that of the classroom.

A seating plan will be posted outside the hall before the meeting.

AUDITIONS

The next Lit. and Deb. activity scheduled for this term is Amateur Night and will be held in the Assembly Hall on Wednesday, October 14. This show has always been one of the highlights of the Society's productions, as it brings together on one programme all of the talent in the field of entertainment that Macdonald College has to offer. The hill-billy cronies of the Aggies have always lent sharp contrast to the meticulously rendered classics of the Education Faculty. Dancers and comedians, skit actors and narrators of poetry have added to the variety of the programme.

This year it is the duty of every student who is even limitedly talented to come forth and earn class points and prestige for the college.

Subsequently, there will be a mass audition in the Assembly Hall TONIGHT at 7 p.m. sharp.

All you students bring along your musical instrument, your prepared skit, song, dance or whatever your act is and let the Auditions Committee decide your worth.

See you tonight!

ARE YOU GUILTY?

Mr. Henderson in the Student Placement office gives us notice again that by now all the Employment Service forms should have been filled out and returned. If this has been on your conscience, dash over now (before you forget) and slip the paper under the door at Cluster Cottages #1, opposite the Infirmary.

EXPERIMENT IN INTERNATIONAL LIVING

This summer I went to Mexico with a group of eight young people who had in common an interest in another way of life. We wanted to see Mexico, not as tourists, but through the minds and hearts of the Mexican people.

Our group was organized by Marion Adams, National Director of The Experiment in International Living, which has been growing in Canada over the past two years, with the aid of the headquarters in Putney, Vermont. In the group were four from Ottawa, one a teacher from Kirkland Lake, one from Oshawa, and one from Montreal. Miss Adams made up the eighth.

After a long 100-hour bus ride, we arrived in Mexico City, tired and incredibly dirty. From the moment of our arrival we were royally looked after by Mexican friends of the Experiment, who took us to our pension and later out to eat in style.

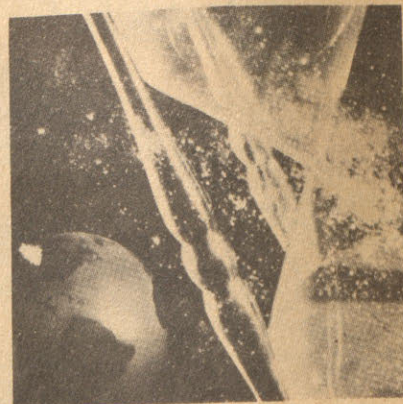

Really, the red carpet treatment continued the whole time we were in Mexico - everyone was so good to us. It was a friendly kind of red carpet, without formalities, warm and natural.

We took a bus from Mexico

City to Toluca, about an hour's climb through the Sierra Madre Mountains. We had been warned about the reception we'd be getting, so we were prepared for the band and the television cameras and bouquets of roses, and for the mass of people from whom we had to sort out the families with whom we would be staying.

We really couldn't have been given nicer families. Our Toluca homes were mostly bigger than those we had left in Canada, with one or two tiled patios or courtyards filled with flowers. About the

TIME AND ETERNITY

Macdonald Christian Fellowship presents a "Sermon from Science" film.

"Time and Eternity" has been called "the most lucid presentation ever made of the time-space relationship."

How would you like to....

*take a two-day vacation in a matter of minutes

*travel down a freeway and through the Panama Canal at the speed of sound *take a trip through space at the speed of light....

You do all these things and more in "Time and Eternity".

This film is beautiful and intriguing. It is also VITAL, for it deals with Man's deepest need.

SEE IT SEPT. 30 (THURSDAY) IN ROOM M027. EVERYONE WELCOME!

I.S.A. MEETING

The first meeting will be held on Sunday Sept. 26 at 1:30 p.m. in Laird Hall. The amusing one hour film, "Courtship", which contrasts the courting customs of different countries will be shown.

STUDENT SOCIETY MEETING

There will be an open Student Society meeting on Monday 27 at 4:00 p.m. in the Assembly Hall. This meeting will be to accept nominations for the fall Council Elections and to hear the nominee's acceptance speeches.

Nominations for the Fall-elected Council members, namely the Home Ec. Representative, the Second Councillor for Education, the Agriculture Representative, and the Post-Graduate Councillor, will open today at 6 p.m. and remain open until Sunday 11 p.m. All nominations must be handed in to the Internal Vice-President, Miss Gail Robison, in Laird Hall, by this time.

If there is only one nomination for any one post, the nominations will stay open for that post until the end of the Open Student Society Meeting on Monday.

Beefs of the WEEK

We have two phones between Brittain and women's residences. It is too bad they don't work.

We pay 11 dollars directly to athletics, but only a select few receive any direct benefit. The only thing some people get for their money is the privilege of watching their own team play. Are we to be denied even this? Why are we required to pay yet again because in fact we have already paid.

thusiasm and co-operative ideas for a bigger and better year at Macdonald College.

The Student Council Monetary Policies and Budgeting were outlined by Council Treasurer, Rich Holley, and many problems existing were explained and many questions were answered.

The Freshman Problem resulted in a lively discussion as delegates gave their views on Orientation and the value of this week, Freshman duty and its value, initiating class spirit in freshman classes, and motivating enthusiasm towards college activities.

In discussion of Student Awards, four programs were presented by the four groups following explanation of Student Awards by Gold Key Society President, Barry Stephen. The proposals will be studied by a committee so that a satisfactory awards program might be established for the college.

The Image of Macdonald was a very interesting topic as it was based on two questions: "What do we think of Macdonald?", and "What should others think of Macdonald?". The image of a farmer and housewife college if it exists, must be changed, basing the image on science and technology of agriculture and household science. From these points came discussion of what role the College Royal and Open House at McGill could play in creating a favourable image of Macdonald College. The discussion created a great enthusiasm among the students to present Macdonald College to others in its best light.

only thing they lacked was central heating that's not a joke, because at an altitude of 8,500 feet it does get cold even in summer. We all wished we had brought fewer flimsy summer cottons and more winter woolies!

One of the questions we are asked most often concerns the food. The Mexican meal hours are more sensible than ours, being more evenly spaced, breakfast, then an enormous dinner about two in the afternoon, and supper around nine. At first it seemed a long time to wait, but it was worth it.

Dinner usually had at least five courses, with meat or vegetables in savory sauces (usually hot or "picante" with chile) and baskets of tortillas, the flat corn bread that they call "the spoon that you eat". Five hours after finishing such a meal I usually didn't feel the need of more than a "taco" or two, "café con leche" and a sweet roll or crusty "bolillo".

It was with some reservations, chiefly doubts about our own capabilities, that we began our programme of social work in San Pedro Tultepec, a village of 2,500 a few kilometers from Toluca. We were eager to see and experience another side of Mexico, the life of the rural communities, and there could have been no better way, I feel, than to have the opportunity, as we did, to work with the people of a "pueblo", being able to share in their plans, their frustrations and their achievements.

But I admit it was a couple of weeks before I began to feel we had a chance of accomplishing this.

We came to San Pedro "green", after three days of orientation by officials of the Department of Agriculture of the State, and having had only a week in Mexico and speaking pitifully little Spanish.

We would drive out to the village every weekday morning in a government truck, returning about two for the midday meal and the rest of the day with our "families".

ed of them as individuals and as classes.

The few who did attend are to be commended for their interest, and it is hoped that the initiative and enthusiasm shown by these students will spread among their classmates. The annual Reception for all new students followed the meeting, and once again the turnout was disappointing. Many who had missed the more important gatherings turned up later on for the music and dancing down in the coffee shop.

Serious Business

Everyone got down to serious business on Thursday, as classes started, but all cares were forgotten again in the fun of the gay Mardi Gras Dance that night.

Fun night opened the weekend activities as the Lit and Deb sponsored an interesting and entertaining program of skits and music, and we got our first sight of the

We found it best to try to work independently of the other members of our group if possible, because we got many more trees planted, more hearths and "lavaderos" built, more dresses sewn, and more hygiene and sanitation taught if we relied solely on the help of the villagers and forgot for a while that there were Canadians around we could speak English to.

We had plenty of help, right through the duration of the programme, from a group of four American Experimenters who were also living in Toluca, and from the staff of a student newspaper, "El Nigromante", a group of about twenty boys from the State University at Toluca.

These boys would take what time they could between classes to take the bus to the village and help with the construction work, or planting trees, or to hold a "clase de alfabetización".

We had one hectic week preparing for the official closing, which was the highlight of the programme for the villagers. We stayed to work the whole day all that week, planting trees like mad, scouring, re-roofing, patching and finally painting the old school that had served as our headquarters, so that it could be equipped with electricity and used as a community centre after we were gone.

When we returned to the village the Monday after the closing ceremony, a religious fiesta was in progress, and our San Pedro friends didn't need to work too hard to persuade us to go with them.

As we made our way between the arches of flowers and the stands of fruit and candy and cakes, we were greeted on all sides by friendly faces.

I think that in our hearts that was what we cherished most - more than the grand formalities of the closing.

Now, as we settle back into the Canadian routine, our thoughts still turn to that lovely country in the south, and all we can talk about is - Mexico.

talent that has come fresh to Mac this year. First Year Teachers took top honours with a take-off on a perfect subject - Registration. Two very good music groups and several amusing skits were presented during the evening.

The high point of the week was really reached Saturday night with a Mix and Match dance arranged by the Dance Committee. During the break, the frosh got a second chance to meet their Students Council and Activities leaders.

The film, "Man's Favorite

Sport" was shown by the S.T.S. as the first of a series of Sunday night movies, and with this happy ending a good full week came to a close.

Now that the new students have this Orientation behind them, we hope they have been enabled to gain insight into College life and the many activities and opportunities open to them. Will Orientation Week have made them ready, willing and able to take an active part in College activities and thus get the most out of their years at Macdonald? We hope it has!

MACDONALD TO FACE MOUNTIES

The Macdonald College Aggies will be flexing their new muscles as they face a strong Mount Allison varsity squad in an exhibition tilt tomorrow in Verdun Stadium.

Last spring the basketball and hockey suffered a double defeat at the hands of the Mounties during the Mt. "A" Winter Carnival.

We expect that at least seventy percent of the Macdonald College students will be on hand to cheer the Aggies onto a victory, of course!

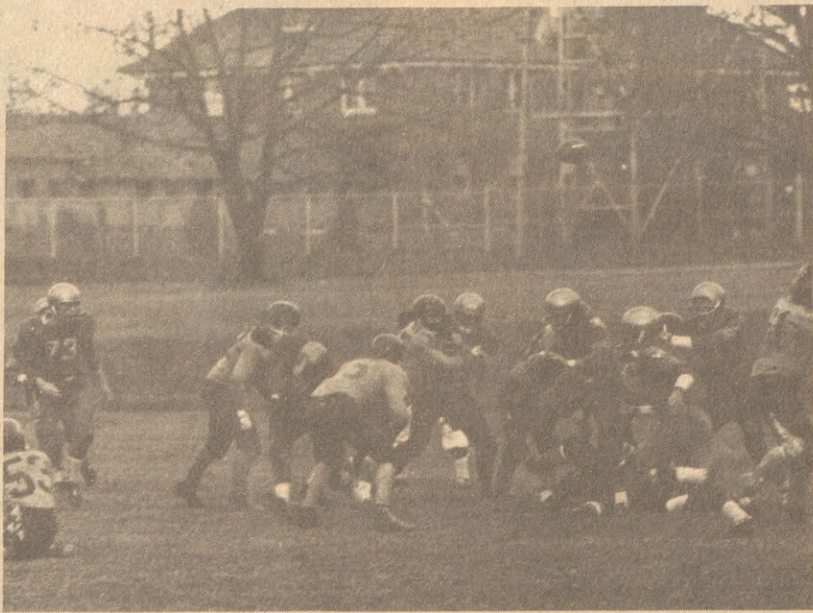

This year's team is comprised of many familiar faces and much new talent which should provide for better balance and result in a stronger attack.

Much of the success of this year's team will depend on the line and such men as Wayne Parker and Rollie Hayman who will be expected to work both ways. If Gord Simpson and Ron Sevigny pickup where they left off last year they will be a big asset up front.

Eric Greensteins will have big shoes to fill at center as he will be taking the place of Jim Wills who starred in this slot last season.

Newcomers to the team are John McKenzie, D. Hart, and Ross MacGibbon. They have looked good in practice and are expected to fill gaps in both the offensive and defensive lines.

This year's backfield looks very powerful with Jerry Fielders, Alex Manson, Terry Bradley, Winston Ingalls, Doug Carpenter, Ron Raynor and G. Wood providing the main forward thrust. The offence is looking very good and with plenty of blocking should be able to move.

The defence has been reinforced with John Salmela at right corner linebacker and Malcolm MacDonald in the interior linebacker's slot. The success of the defence will depend on their ability to prevent the long pass. They will also be called on to help the line men stop the opposing teams' ground game.

Jerry Fielders will once again be the third down punter while Winston Ingalls will kick off.

This year Mac will play a home and home series with Bishops, St. Pats., and C.M.R.

Bishops will be as strong as last year and St. Pats, according to reports, will be much stronger than they were. C.M.R. is new in the league. Little is known about C.M.R. except that they will be in excellent physical condition.

The winner of our league will meet the winner of the Ottawa St. Lawrence league.

Get out and support your team, this could be the year that Mac will dethrone Bishops -- YOUR SUPPORT IS NEEDED.

The Game of Rugger

People walking round campus sometime on Saturday might see a surprising sight on the football field. Thirty individuals will be engaged in a chase after a ball (prune shaped) and in the process of doing this they will be going through a fantastic series of antics. What you will see will be the second to original game of "Chase the pigs Bladder" otherwise known as Rugby football. For the past two or three weeks a group of ruffianly gentlemen have been exercising this art at regular intervals under the cover of darkness.

However, on Saturday we hope to come out into the light of day and before your eyes (for better or worse) there will be a game in progress.

To many, the antics that are performed may not have rhyme or reason. Thus to save complete confusion on campus we tell you, who may be fortunate enough to run across the game, some of the basic rules.

- 1) Each team shall have fifteen men, no more and no less, consisting of eight forwards and seven backs.
- 2) The aim of the game is by any possible means to touch the ball on the ground behind the goal line.
- 3) The ball shall never be passed forward and no man may even be tackled or otherwise impeded when not in possession of the ball.
- 4) In the case of a foul the two sets of forwards will form a scrum into which the ball will be passed for them to heel back.
- 5) In the case of a deliberate foul the offending team will retreat 10 yards and the other team will then kick or carry the ball forward.
- 6) When the ball goes out of play along the sides of the field the two sets of forwards shall line up opposite each other and jump for possession.

If you want to clear your mind as to what this game really consists of, come along and see and bring this outline with you.

Anyone who would like to play, contact one of the following:- Tony Johnson; Alex Schumacher; Dave Casson (Brittain Hall 107) or Alan Campbell (Brittain Hall 494).

MEN'S INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Intramural Tee-Off Today

For the first time in many years the Macdonald duffers will tee-off in an intramural golf tournament. This tournament will be played at the Senneville Golf Course commencing at 1 p.m. this afternoon (Friday, Sept. 24th). Class points will be awarded to the class with the lowest total gross score.

A few rules have been set down to govern the participation and scoring of this event.

- 1) Each class must have four players to comprise a team.
- 2) In the case of scoring, where there are more than four players representing one class, only the four low gross scores will be tabulated.
- 3) Rules and Score-cards will be given to one player in each foursome who will be responsible for turning in the scores to Mr. Koski (Director of Intramural Sports) on completion of the round.

The top four qualifiers in this intramural event will be chosen to represent Macdonald in the annual Lower Ottawa - St. Lawrence Golf Tourney, this year being held in Lennoxville on Oct. 9.

Interclass Football

Last year's effort to offer Interclass football during the noon hour was successful so, once again football will play between 12:30 and 1:20.

Each class is expected to field a team and MAA class reps. are urged to submit their team lists to: G. Koski, Room 123, Brittain Hall, or Al Armitage, Apt. D, 3 Maple. NO later than 6 p.m. Saturday, September 25, in order that a schedule can be posted on Tuesday, September 28th.

The Word From the World Tennis

There is tennis at MAC - Yes, even you can play. Tennis rackets and balls can be borrowed from the Athletics Office.

Beginners may receive instruction during the following times:

Track and Field

12 hopeful track & field enthusiasts have been training for the coming "twilight meet" at McGill University. This meet will take place on Oct. 8 and Oct. 15.

The Ottawa - St. Lawrence meet has been scheduled for Oct. 16 at the Royal Military College in Kingston.

Anyone interested in track and field or in Harrier running is encouraged to attend nightly practices at 5:00 p.m. on the playing field.

PEP RALLY

This event, staged annually on the eve of Mac's "Homecoming" Football game, will take place Friday, October 1, beginning at 7 p.m. in front of the Main Building.

Mac's colourful cheerleaders will be on hand to lead cheers, head up the torchlight parade and to burn, in effigy, a player from Ottawa St. Pat's College.

This will also be a chance to meet the football and Soccer players and the respective coaches.

The evening promises plenty of excitement when Sophomore Home Ec. Girls meet the undefeated Senior Home makers in a gridiron battle immediately following the introduction of Varsity Players.

To add a final touch to the evening the Dance Committee is planning a real whopper.
